

Supplement 3. Indexes/indicators related to the Healthy Markets

Name of index/indicator mentioned by author	Author (year), country	Type of instrument, no. of items	Subjects	Setting	Purpose of index/indicator	Examples of indicators or domains categorized to define index
Healthiness Indicators for Commercial Establishments that Sell Foods for Immediate Consumption	Tavares et al. ²³ (2021), Brazil	A checklist applied with the audit method. An audit is the method most frequently reported in the literature for measuring the consumer food environment included 7 several domains	-	12-Story vertical urban campus with 24 academic units, with daily circulation of about 35,000 people	Proportion of availability of subgroups of unprocessed/ minimally processed foods (MPF 1) among all the selected subgroups of MPF (prop-MPF)	As healthiness indicators for commercial establishments that sell foods for immediate consumption
Indicators of the relative availability of healthy versus unhealthy foods in supermarkets	Vandevijvere et al. ²⁴ (2017), New Zealand	5 Indicators located in 3 domains	-	Supermarkets	To measure relative availability of healthy versus unhealthy foods in supermarkets	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Fresh fruit and vegetables: soft drinks, energy drinks - Fresh and frozen fruit and vegetables: soft drinks, energy drinks, crisps, sweet biscuits, confectionery
Indicators of readiness and capacity for implementation of healthy food retail interventions	Sanchez-Flack et al. ²⁵ (2021), USA	Interview and focus groups Five themes were identified as indicators	Community residents	9 Counties in Ohio	To measure the readiness and capacity for implementation of healthy food retail interventions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Organizational and practitioner capacity - Community attitudes and perceptions